

Name _____

Mother's Day Mad Libs

DIRECTIONS: C.S. Lewis has a distinct style to his writing. He often uses long sentences to create memorable descriptions of the characters and events. Using Lewis' style, create your own description of a person or event from your life. Reread the description of the White Witch in the sledge in chapter 3 (~p. 31) and the feelings you get when you hear Aslan's name (~p. 68). Using those as a model, describe a woman you know well (mother, aunt, grandmother, neighbor...).

Brainstorm words that describe the person you will be writing about
--	--

In the middle of the _____ sat a very different person. A _____ lady, (place) (adjective) _____ than any woman that _____ had ever seen. She also was covered in (superlative) (your name)
_____ up to her throat and held a _____ (adjective) (clothing item) (adjective) _____ in her hand. Her face was _____.
(adjective) (favorite object) (adjective)
_____ like _____ or _____ or (repeat previous adjective) (noun) (noun)
_____. It was a _____ face and _____ and (noun) (adjective) (adjective) _____ and _____.
(adjective) (adjective)

At the name of _____, _____ felt something jump inside.
(mother's name) (your name)
_____ felt _____ and _____.
(your name) (adverb) (adjective) (adjective)